Financial literacy is the ability to understand finance. It refers to the set of skills and knowledge that allows an individual to make informed and effective decisions through their understanding of finances. The need for financial literacy has become increasingly significant with the deregulation of financial markets and rapid growth in marketing financial products. Governments and benevolent organizations around the world are beginning to realize the importance of financially knowledgeable citizens, for latter's own benefits and in general, for the benefit of the nation.

In this talk, the speaker will take us through the importance of Financial security, Short term planning, Long term planning, Retirement planning, and Legacy planning.
