

The letters GATI are mentioned in the logo. Around those letters is the setup of the message which shows that all genders are equally required for making and transforming an institution into a healthy and successful one. The female and male both are working together to hold up the infrastructure. When it comes to a scientific or technological institute such as ours, there are three main things- The input work, the administration and the output results. So on top are those three symbols where a flask shows an experimental input, the LGBTQ+ coloured administration shows inclusivity in the institute and the pen shows the papers and laurels that the output results symbolise. Together, including all genders, one can make the institute grow as brightly as the dot of the 'i' in the GATI logo.
